

The Israeli Committee Against House Demolitions announces:

Resisting Occupation—Constructing Peace
2006 ICAHD Summer Rebuilding Experience
July 15 – July 30, 2006

For the fourth year in a row, the Israeli Committee Against House Demolitions (ICAHD) is offering a summer work camp intended to foster learning, discussion, and friendship between Palestinians, Israelis and internationals. We are looking for 25 internationals who will work alongside Israelis and Palestinians to rebuild the home of a Palestinian family whose house has been demolished by the Israeli authorities.

In addition to rebuilding the house and demonstrating non-violent resistance to the Occupation, participants will have the opportunity to learn about the facts on the ground through a full program which includes presentations from key organizations working for a just peace in Palestine and Israel, films about aspects of the conflict, and tours to other parts of the Occupied Territories, Jerusalem and Israel.

Participants will be based at ICAHD's Beit Arabiya Peace Center in Anata, just outside of Jerusalem and should plan to arrive in Jerusalem no later than July 15th and can plan to leave July 30th.

We request that participants engage in fundraising to help cover the cost of rebuilding. To facilitate this effort, a comprehensive information packet about the issue of house demolitions and the work of ICAHD will be provided.

- Please plan to raise US $1,000 towards expenses to participate:
 - $500 covers the cost of the work camp which includes basic sleeping and shower facilities, fabulous local Palestinian food prepared daily and the full program.
 - $500 goes toward purchasing building materials. The total cost of rebuilding a house is US $35,000 which includes everything from the foundation of the house to the walls, the roof, painting, electricity, plumbing, etc.

For an application form and all inquiries regarding the camp please contact ICAHD's International Coordinator, Lucia Pizarro lucia@icahd.org
